Katherine joined Laner Muchin in 2022 and concentrates her practice in private and public sector employment litigation.

Katherine has experience working with clients on a wide range of complex legal issues, including handling claims brought under the FMLA, Title VII, ADA and the FLSA. Katherine is also well-versed in representing clients in cases at the EEOC and state and local agencies. Furthermore, Katherine has experience in all aspects of pretrial litigation, including counseling clients through discovery, motion practice, as well as settlement conferences and mediations.

Prior to joining Laner Muchin, Katherine worked at several boutique law firms in Chicago focusing on employment litigation, first as a law clerk and later as an associate, where she gained experience handling a myriad of employment litigation cases. Katherine's prior experience representing both plaintiffs and defendants allows her to analyze complex legal issues through different lenses.

Katherine earned her J.D. from Chicago-Kent College of Law where she also graduated with a certificate in Alternative Dispute-Resolution and Workplace Litigation. While in law school, she was an active member of the Moot Court Honor Society, where she served as Vice President for the
