

Court deletes lawsuit as sanction for deletions on company laptop

Joe Gagliardo & Darin Williams
Chicago Daily Law Bulletin
11.06.2019

In mid-September, the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Illinois ruled that a former employee's federal discrimination and retaliation claims against his old employer should be dismissed as a sanction for the employee's spoliation of evidence where the court found that the employee willfully deleted potential evidence from his work-issued laptop.

Attorneys

Joseph M. Gagliardo
Darin M. Williams

Practice Areas

Counseling and Transactional
Labor Management
Relations